

All Star Youth Tennis Scholarship Trust

Safeguarding Policy

Introduction

It is the duty of the trustees to take reasonable steps to protect people who come into contact with the All Star Youth Tennis Scholarship Trust (ASYTST) from harm, in particular the children benefiting from, or working with our charity. Safeguarding children means protecting them from abuse and maltreatment, preventing harm to their health or development, ensuring they grow up with the provision of safe and effective care and taking action to enable all children and young people to have the best outcomes. This policy outlines how The ASYTST aims to safeguard children in its care and has been drawn up following Charity Commission guidance 'Safeguarding and protecting people for charities and trustees' which can be found here. Further guidance has been taken from the LTA Minimum Standards For Safeguarding.

Aims

The trustees of the ASYTST strive to act in the best interest of children involved with the Trust and ensure we take all reasonable steps to prevent harm to them. We believe that

- The welfare of the child is paramount.
- All children regardless of age, gender, ethnicity, disability, sexuality or religious beliefs have a right to equal protection from types of harm or abuse.
- Working in partnership with children, young people, their parents, carers, and other agencies is essential in promoting young people's welfare.

To safeguard children and promote their welfare we will

- Appoint a Trust Safeguarding Officer who is responsible for safeguarding and ensuring that Trust policies and procedures are followed.
- Have a Code of Conduct for trustees, staff and volunteers. (Appendix C).
- Practice safer recruitment. Ensure that all staff and volunteers are suitable and legally able to act in their positions by obtaining criminal records checks where positions are eligible and references on any gaps in work history. The Commission's guidance describes the various checks and safeguards that will be appropriate for charities working with children Finding new trustees \(CC30\).
- Obtain an enhanced DBS for people working in regulated activity for the Trust.
- Ensure all staff and volunteers receive regular training on child protection or working with adults at risk, including the different types of child abuse, (Appendix D). Safeguarding induction training is now mandatory for all new trustees who work directly with children, young people, their families and/or carers. (See CC guidance)
- Ensure confidentiality and information sharing is legislation compliant, and keeps the protection of the child as the most important consideration.

To make sure people can raise safeguarding concerns we will

- Create an environment where adults and children can voice concerns about unacceptable and/or abusive behaviour towards children, know they will be listened to and their concerns are taken seriously.
- Not tolerate any bullying, harassment, victimisation or unfair treatment of whistle blowers and take appropriate action to protect whistle blowers when they raise a concern in good faith. For more information refer to our Whistle Blowing Policy.

Handling allegations or incidents

- All concerns, and allegations of abuse will be taken seriously and responded to appropriately - this may require a referral to children's social care services.
- In the first instance, unless someone is in immediate danger, any individual who is told about, hears, or is made aware of a concern/disclosure should report this to the Trust Safeguarding and Welfare Officer, Elliott Austin, (elliott@allstartennis.co.uk).
- If someone is in immediate danger this should be reported to the police.
- Concerns should be logged using the Reporting a Concern Form (Appendix B).
- Information on what to do if a child makes a disclosure to you can be found in (Appendix A).

Reporting to the relevant authorities

Dependent on the concern/disclosure, a referral may be made to:

- The police in an emergency (999);

- Local Authority Children's Services Call 020 8871 6622 (9am to 5pm). Out of hours: 020 8871 6000 or email mash@wandsworth.gov.uk.

This policy was last reviewed in January 2020

Appendix D: Different types of child abuse

(Taken from the LTA Safeguarding Policy)

Safeguarding: protecting children from abuse and neglect, preventing the impairment of children's health or development, ensuring that children are growing up in circumstances consistent with the provision of safe and effective care, and taking action to enable all children to have the best life chances. Enabling adults at risk to achieve the outcomes that matter to them in their life; protecting their right to live in safety, free from abuse and neglect. Empowering and supporting them to make choices, stay safe and raise any concerns. Beginning with the assumption that an individual is best-placed to make decisions about their own wellbeing, taking proportional action on their behalf only if someone lacks the capacity to make a decision, they are exposed to a life-threatening risk, someone else may be at risk of harm, or a criminal offence has been committed or is likely to be committed.

Abuse and neglect

Physical abuse: A form of abuse which may involve hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning or scalding, drowning, suffocating or otherwise causing physical harm to a child or adult at risk. Physical harm may also be caused when a parent or carer fabricates the symptoms of, or deliberately induces illness.

Sexual abuse: Involves forcing or enticing a child or young person to take part in abuse sexual activities, not necessarily involving a high level of violence, whether or not the child is aware of what is happening. The activities may involve physical contact, including assault by penetration (for example, rape or oral sex) or non-penetrative acts such as masturbation, kissing, rubbing and touching outside of clothing. They may also include non-contact activities, such as involving children in looking at, or in the production of, sexual images, watching sexual activities, encouraging children to behave in sexually inappropriate ways, or grooming a child in preparation for abuse (including via the internet). Sexual abuse is not solely perpetrated by adult males. Women can also commit acts of sexual abuse, as can other children.

Emotional abuse: The persistent emotional maltreatment of a child or adult at risk such as to cause severe and persistent adverse effects on their emotional development. It may involve conveying to a child/ adult at risk that they are worthless or unloved, inadequate, or valued only insofar as they meet the needs of another person; not giving them opportunities to express their views; deliberately silencing them or 'making fun' of what they say or how they communicate. It may feature age or developmentally inappropriate expectations being imposed, including interactions that are beyond a child or adult at risk's developmental capability, as well as overprotection and limitation of exploration and learning, or preventing them participating in normal social interaction. It may involve seeing or hearing the ill-treatment of another. It may involve serious bullying (including cyber bullying), causing a child or adult at risk to feel frightened or in danger, or the exploitation or corruption of children. Some level of emotional abuse is involved in all types of maltreatment of a child, though it may occur alone.

Neglect: The persistent failure to meet a child/ adult at risk's basic physical and/or psychological needs, likely to result in the serious impairment of their health or development. It may involve a parent or carer failing to:

- provide adequate food, clothing and shelter (including exclusion from home or abandonment);
- protect a child/ adult at risk from physical and emotional harm or danger;
- ensure adequate supervision (including the use of inadequate care-givers); or
- ensure access to appropriate medical care or treatment.

It may also include neglect of, or unresponsiveness to, a child's or adult at risk's basic emotional needs. Neglect may occur during pregnancy as a result of maternal substance abuse.

Additional examples of abuse and neglect of adults at risk

Financial abuse: having money or property stolen; being defrauded; being put under pressure in relation to money or other property; and having money or other property misused.

Discriminatory abuse: treating someone in a less favourable way and causing them harm, because of their age, gender, sexuality, gender identity, disability, socio-economic status, ethnic origin, religion and any other visible or non-visible difference.

Domestic abuse: includes physical, sexual, psychological or financial abuse by someone who is, or has been a partner or family member. Includes forced marriage, female genital mutilation and honour-based violence (an act of violence based on the belief that the person has brought shame on their family or culture). Domestic abuse does not necessarily involve physical contact or violence.

Psychological abuse: including emotional abuse, threats of harm or abandonment, deprivation of contact, humiliation, blaming, controlling, intimidation, coercion, harassment, verbal abuse, isolation or withdrawal from services or supportive networks.

Organisational abuse: where the needs of an individual are not met by an organisation due to a culture of poor practice or abusive behaviour within the organisation.

Self-neglect: behaviour which threatens an adult's personal health or safety (but not that of others). Includes an adult's decision to not provide themselves with adequate food, clothing, shelter, personal hygiene, or medication (when indicated), or take appropriate safety precautions.

Modern slavery: encompasses slavery, human trafficking, criminal and sexual exploitation, forced labour and domestic servitude. Traffickers and slave masters use whatever means they have at their disposal to coerce, deceive and force individuals into a life of abuse, servitude and inhumane treatment.

- A person who is being abused may experience more than one type of abuse.
- Harassment, and bullying are also abusive and can be harmful.
- Female Genital Mutilation (FGM) is now recognised as a form of physical, sexual and emotional abuse that is practised across the UK.
- Child Sexual Exploitation is recognised as a form of sexual abuse in which children are sexually exploited for money, power or status.

- People from all cultures are subject to abuse. It cannot be condoned for religious or cultural reasons.
- Abuse can have immediate and long-term impacts on someone's well-being, including anxiety, depression, substance misuse, eating disorders and self-destructive Conducts, offending and anti-social Conduct.
- Those committing abuse are most often adults, both male and female. However, child-to-child abuse also takes place.
